Antioch Ties Glenbrook Wins from Ela-Vernon Plays Fenton Today

Frosh-Soph Team Humbles Glenbrook Here 10-6; To Play Fenton

Antioch High marred the conference leading Glenbrook high school's record somewhat here Tuesday by holding the visitors to a 3-3 tie.

The game was halted by darkness at the end of the seventh inning. It will be replayed entirely but the record of this game will stand. The game marked a new peak in Antioch's gradual improvement.

Gordy Lind, Glenbrook's ace mound artist, appeared headed for a no-hit game when with one out in the sixth, Elvin Meyer, Sequoit left fielder, lined a double to left. Pat Roach, center fielder, got on base when the catcher dropped a third strike, and both runners scored on Dick Jonas' screaming triple over the center fielder's head.

This seemed to unnervy Lind who proceeded to walk both Don Pyles and Lon Christensen, filling the bases. Chuck Larson popped to first for the second out, and Bill Jarvis then beat out a hit to third, scoring Jonas with the tying run.

The Sequoits threatened to take the game in the seventh when they got two men on base. With two out, however, Pyle went down swinging for the third out.

Lind, an all-conference top pitcher, struck out 14 and walked three, yielding four hits. Don Pyles struck out six and likewise allowed four hits, but walked six.

A home run by the Glenbrook left fielder, Rudolph, with one on in the third gave the visitors a decided edge until the Antioch rally in the sixth.

Antioch defeat of Ela-Vernon there last Thursday by a 9 to 8 score brought the Sequoits' record for the season to 2-2 standing.

The game at Lake Zurich was called in the sixth because of darkness. Home runs by Pyles with one on and by Jesse of Ela with one base occupied were the features of the game.

Lyons and Ryan Buy Carlson Ford Agency

Walter Lyons of Oak Park and Lawrence (Larry) Ryan of Park Ridge are the new owners of the Ford agency in Antioch, having purchased it last Thursday from Edward E. Carlson.

Carlson is retiring, and his brother, Herbert Carlson, who has been associated with him in the business since they took it over from William Rosing and Son in 1953, has taken a position with Magnoleum Metals of New Jersey as a traveling salesman.

Edward Carlson resides at Pistakee Bay and Herbert Carlson at Petite Lake.

Walter Lyons, member of the new firm has been employed the last three and one-half years with Brigance Chevrolet at Oak Park, and his partner, Larry Ryan has been with Oak Park Ford as sales manager for eight years.

Lyons is a past president and Ryan is vice-president of the Oak Park Optimist Club, a service organization.

Ryan served in the marine corps during World War II.

The new firm will be known as the Lyons-Ryan Ford Agency.

Both have families of three children and the two families plan to make Antioch their home as soon as residents can be acquired.

Firemen Plan Dance for Saturday, June 29 And 4th Celebration

After recommending to the Village Board that Edgar Simonsen be re-appointed fire chief, the Antioch Fire Department at its meeting Tuesday evening turned to the task of planning its annual dance which will be held Saturday, June 29.

The firemen are determined to make the dance as popular this year as it was last year.

Also in the plans of the department is the Fourth of July celebration which will be largely a repetition of last year's entertainment which proved so successful. Contributions to the expense of the purchase of fireworks are being received and the Chamber of Commerce will spend $200 for decorations to help attract visitors.

While the village has deeded some of the land used last year as a parking space to an industry, it is not expected that the land will be in use by the holiday, and the celebration probably will be at the same place that it was held last year.

Building of Bong Air Base Starts in June

New $43 Million Governm't Project Is Just 11 Miles North of Antioch

Construction will be started in June on the new $43 million Richard I. Bong federal air base at Kansasville 11 miles north of Antioch.

The work for the first three months will be devoted to grading, rerouting a highway, making ditches and establishing the base of the gigantic runway. Fifty miles of tilling for drainage and sewage will take place.

The construction of the runway will start in September according to the timetable. The runway will be 11,560 feet in length and 200 feet wide, with 200 foot shoulders.

In April, 1958 500 units for housing of 1,500 families will be under construction along with other building which will be constructed of cement blocks. Completion of the base will be accomplished by 1960.

Churches and schools will be constructed on the base. A hospital will offer complete out-patient care for both military men and their dependents. A new medical bill will afford dependents of civilian employees medical care also. The hospital will draw upon Great Lakes Training Center for specialists.

When the base is in operation approximately 175 civilians will be employed. O'Hara field employees are offered the opportunity to transfer to the Bong field. Positions unfilled will be filled through competitive civil service examinations.

A spokesman for the government said that local contractors will be able to apply for contracts as sub-contractors.

It is estimated that when the base is in full operation $3 million will be spent annually in the area.

Ten per cent of the employees will be colored. They will be housed on the base in an area of their own.

Antioch is bound to get added business as the result of the new project but as Burlington is at its back door it will be expected to benefit more than any surrounding village.

Fear of Antioch residents that this community would be annoyed by the jet planes was dispelled this week when it was revealed that the big runway will lie northwest and southeast and the planes will never come in this direction on the take-off, or landing.

The Teen-Age Market

Some novel advice to retailers was given by speakers at a recent convention of the National Retail Dry Goods Association.

It was urged that retailers give special attention to teen-agers and the teen-age market. This was buttressed with some surprising figures. There are 16 million teen-agers in the country today and their income—from earnings and allowances—comes to a whopping $9 billion a year. By 1965, it is estimated, there will be 24 million teen-agers commanding $14 billion in purchasing power. In addition to all this, teen-agers exert a major influence on the shopping habits of adult members of the family.

Specific suggestions—which can be followed by small stores and large—were given as to how to effectively reach this market. They included these: "You can plan a series of ads especially designed to sell your store to the teens. You can make sure that first of all you carefully select the merchandise that's to be featured in these ads. You can reach out to this group in your ads with headlines that select teen-agers from the passing parade of reader traffic moving through the pages of the newspaper."

Retailing and the markets it serves are forever changing in this country—as the economic rise of the teen-agers graphically demonstrates.

U. S. Savings Bonds

Every so often someone rises up to protest the federal government's promotion of U. S. Savings Bonds. The citizens could earn more interest on common stocks or municipals, it is said. Or inflation overcomes the increments at maturity; and the government ought to issue "purchasing power" bonds to play square with the people.

U. S. Savings Bonds are, in principle and in fact, the soundest and most practical source of mass savings in the world today. Why? Because their earnings, though modest, are certain. They are promptly convertible. And even though one can point to a multitude of blue chip alternatives in today's salubrious economic climate, the Savings Bond is the real rock in heavy weather.

If every American were born with a built-in instinct for thrift; if all persons found easy access to comprehensible and honest financial counseling; if every man were endowed with a little "mad money" that he could afford to lose while breeding it with opportunity—that would be one thing. But such is not the case. So the people, the masses of the people, need inducements to simple and sure savings—bonds paid for by withholding, for example. And Uncle Sam, who would like to be on a cash basis, but can't be, needs the money even though the taxpayers have to pay for it, even and including interest to themselves.

No, the people have confidence in their government beyond that which they have in some more remunerative investment. That's why more than 30 per cent of Americans' liquid savings are held in Savings Bonds. Ten million families bought bonds in 1956, and 60 per cent invested through payroll savings. They might have done better. They surely could have done worse. But what they did was safe, sane, and in the public interest—including their own.

We have no hesitancy in recommending, indeed urging thrift and preparedness through savings media provided by the United States government.

The Least That Should Be Done

Government is not a business. It is not supposed to be a money-making body. Its function is to spend money for essential purposes which only government can effectively or properly accomplish. The courts and the military establishments are examples of this.

However, over the years, we have strayed far from the old constitutional concepts of what the government should and should not do. We have put the government into commercial business which is tax free in competition with highly taxed private business. And, to make a bad matter worse, it has been common for these government businesses to operate at a loss—which simply means that all the taxpayers subsidize those who use the privileged services in question.

Parcel post is a good example of this. It competes with private companies—local cartagemen, the Railway Express service, and others—engaged in the transportation of property. When it began, in 1913, out Congressional stipulation was that it should be self-sustaining. But, it has, by contrast, usually if not always operated at an out-of-pocket loss to the postoffice department—and hence to the tax-payers. This is why the Hoover Commission, along with other authoritative bodies, has urged that parcel post rates be made sufficient to meet the costs, both direct and indirect. If we are to have government in business, that is the least that should be done.

Man's Hat Gives Clew as to How He Earns Living

PHILADELPHIA — The surest clue to a man's job is the style of his hat. And the way that he wears it—straight, tilted, or however, is more a geographical than a personally matter.

These observations are gleaned from a compilation of answers to a questionnaire circulated by John B. Stetson Company among a worldwide cross-section of fashion advisers, men's hat designers, and hat salesmen.

The strongest influence on the average married man's choice in hat styles is not, as with most of his other apparel, his wife, it was established, but instead, the pressure of the kind of group in which he earns his income.

Doctors, for example, tend to wear hats like other doctors, and newspapermen hats like other newspapermen.

Journalism, incidentally, no longer can be associated validly with disreputable headgear, according to the experts—no matter what you see in TV dramas or at the movies. The typical member of the Fourth Estate has gone along with the current style kick of the American male everywhere. Newspapermen, in fact, the survey indicates, are likely to look more like what you might expect of doctors, in this season's hats, while doctors are inclining to more and more casual, though correct, hats.

New Era Seen for Management, Labor

LOS ANGELES—A new era will bring about a change in the traditional relations between management and labor, predicts Dr. George H. Hildebrand, nationally known labor economist.

He believes that automation, atomic and sun power, and other technological advances will increase the nation's material output by as much as 100 per cent by 1967.

Other factors in the future which are less predictable include a possible labor shortage due to lessened birth rates of depression years, an increasingly older population, and the growing importance of "fringe benefits" in labor compensation.

"We have come a long way from the bitter labor strife of the thirties," he says. "There are two principal reasons for our progress. One is the rise of professional business management. The other is a dawning recognition, by both management and labor, of the importance of good industrial relations."

Science Cannot Tell Exact Age of Living

WASHINGTON—The recent visit to the United States of a modern Methuselah from Colombia points up the fact that science has no exact method of determining the exact age of a living adult.

Medical authorities concluded that the four-foot-four Indian, who claimed to be 167, could well be 150. But they couldn't pinpoint the actual number of birthdays the still-alert old gentlemen has celebrated.

During the past year newspapers in Brazil reported the death of a citizen, aged 150. Java and Pakistan each also lost a sesquicentennial. And in Egypt, there's a man who claims to be 200.

Much longer ago, Denmark noted the death of a 146-year-old.

All this is interesting, especially in view of the fact that as recent as 1850 the average life expectancy of an American was only 37 years.

America's Millions Are Doing Their Own

NEW YORK—It's more than a fad, this "do it yourself" idea—millions of Americans are finding that they can handle for themselves tasks which used to be turned over to skilled tradesmen.

Spare-time artisans tackle all sorts of jobs, from redecorating home interiors to adding an extra bath or even building an entire house. In 1953, for example, 11 million amateur carpenters applied 25 million power tools to 50 million square feet of plywood, burning enough electricity to light a city as large as Jacksonville, Florida. Amateurs bought 75 per cent (400 million gallons) of all the paint used in the United States, 60 per cent (150 million rolls) of all the wallpaper, and 50 per cent of all the asphalt tile.

TB Progress

NEW YORK—Outstanding among the medical advantages which have cut down on deaths from tuberculosis are the availability of drugs effective in treating tuberculosis and refinements in surgery.

The principal drugs in use are isoniazid, streptomycin, and para-aminosalicylic acid (PAS). None of these actually kills all the tubercle bacilli in the patient's body. The drugs slow up or inhibit multiplication of the microorganisms.

Lengthy Reports Being Replaced by Magnetic Tapes

SCHENECTADY, N. Y.—A roll of magnetic tape about the size of a dinner plate has replaced a 900-page report to speed the Social Security information of 30,000 General Electric Company employees from Schenectady to Baltimore.

This latest application of automation principles to accounting marks the beginning of a new era of data transmission between industry and the government, since this is the first application of the procedure.

GE officials say the potential savings of such an operation are tremendous to both the government and the company. General Electric employs more than 280,000 persons throughout the country and eventually it is expected that Social Security information for most of them will be forwarded by the tape method.

In addition to the saving in time and material for the preparation of the records, there is also a huge saving in storage space required to keep the records.

The tape, which is approximately 2,400 feet long and weighs about two pounds, carried the quarterly Social Security report for most of the General Electric employees in the Schenectady area. Until tape was used, it was necessary to prepare more than 900 typewritten pages, each containing 30 to 40 names, four times a year to supply the quarterly figures which the government requires for Social Security.

Honey Bees Share And Share Alike

WASHINGTON — With honey bees it's share and share alike.

A single sample of sugar or nectar brought into a hive by a forager is participated in by all the members of a family—all progeny of a single queen—which may number more than 50,000 individuals.

Thus all get essentially the same diet and all acquire a common odor by which they can recognize each other. This odor constitutes a "scent language" which is a basis of the extremely complex bee social life.

These observations, based on experiments with radioactive sugar, are reported by Dr. Ronald Ribbands of Cambridge University.

In one of these experiments, Dr. Ribbands says, "a marked bee is trained to collect sugar solution from a small glass tube, and when radioactive sugar is substituted the bee continues to collect the radioactive syrup quite happily. It returns to the hive, and what happens to the labeled sugar can be followed quite easily. Every bee that receives some can be spotted by means of a geiger counter."

1956 Best Year for Life Insurance

NEW YORK—American families in 1956 bought more new life insurance, increased their ownership of life insurance to a larger aggregate and received more in life insurance benefit payments than in any year on record, according to the Institute of Life Insurance.

The year's purchases of new life insurance are estimated at $55,600,000,000, some $7,200,000,000 more than in 1955 and nearly $45,000,000,000 more than in 1940.

Aggregate life insurance owned in the country reached an estimated $15,000,000,000 at year-end, up nearly $43,000,000,000 in the year and nearly $300,000,000,000 more than in 1940. Life insurance in force now averages over $3,900 for the nation's 106,000,000 policyholders. It is more than $7,500 per family, countrywide, and over $9,000 per insured family.

Three Considerations When Buying House

NEW YORK—There are three things you should consider when you start thinking about buying a house: 1. Cost. 2. Size. 3. Equipment and materials.

As for size, we're fast approaching the 1,500-square-foot mark. You should insist on at least two bathrooms; 150 square feet of kitchen at a minimum; three to four bedrooms; facilities for a family room. Equipment should include built-in kitchen appliances and modern bathroom fixtures in color. Materials should be of proven worth such as durable, waterproof ceramic tile in bath and kitchen, copper plumbing, seasoned lumber.

Man-Made Timbers

WASHINGTON—Man is no longer dependent upon nature to grow giant timbers. By gluing together small pieces of seasoned lumber, timber fabricators can produce "factory grown" timbers of virtually any size or shape. Only limiting factor is the size of timber that can be handled in transport from the fabricating plant to the building site.

A prominent trend in waterway transportation is the growing demand for coal barges of 1,000 to 2,400-ton capacity, to carry coal to electric utility and steel plants located on the nation's inland rivers. Capacity of the 1,000-ton barges is equal to 20 fifty-ton railroad hopper cars and capacity of the 2,400-ton barges is equal to 48 fifty-ton hoppers.

Boilers in the two new coal-fired electric generating plants to be built by American Gas & Electric Co., at Sullivan, Ind., and Graham Station, W. Va., will be as tall as 23-story buildings.

April Cancer Crusade Off to Splendid Start Campaign Heads Says

"The April Cancer Crusade of the American Cancer Society is off to a splendid start here in Lake County," said John T. Schneider, Lake Bluff, Lake County Campaign chairman.

"In the first two weeks of the month-long crusade," Mr. Schneider continued, "we have reached nearly 58 per cent of the Lake County goal of $40,000. Such a splendid response is due, I am sure, to the public's awareness of the need for funds to combat man's cruellest enemy through the Society's program of research, education and service.

"Progress is being made every day on the road towards the discovery of the causes and cures of cancer. Your contributions make this progress possible and it will surely culminate in the success to which we all look forward.

"Each of us can join the battle against cancer in two ways—by having regular physical examinations which may disclose cancer in its earliest—and most curable—stage, and by making a donation to the Society. Our slogan is 'Fight Cancer with a Check-up—and a Check.'

"If you have not already joined in the fight against man's cruellest enemy, you can send a contribution addressed to 'CANCER' in care of your local post office," Schneider concluded.

Annual Forget-Me-Not

Tag Days Apr. 26 and 27

The annual Forget-Me-Not tag days sponsored by the Disabled American Veterans of Lake County will be held in Antioch on Friday and Saturday, April 26 and 27.

The funds derived from this drive are used by the organization to carry on a year around program at Downey Hospital and at Great Lakes. Monthly visits are made by the men and women of the chapter to one of the locked wards at Downey and in order to carry on this work they make this one plea a year to the people of the county for their support.

The DAV also sponsors a contest for the county high school students in connection with "Employ the Handicapped" Week. They have been instrumental in placing many of the handicapped in jobs which have helped them to adjust to their disabilities.

The local DAV is hoping to carry on just as good a program and perhaps even a better one for the coming year and this it can and will do with your support.

Please buy and wear the blue Forget-Me-Not of the less fortunate. Those interested in helping sell tags please contact Cermak's Real Estate.

How To Normalize Your Digestion

Digesting food isn't a single process, but several processes. One of these is "conscious," which you can control. The others are not. The first, conscious process is when you eat. You may gulp in huge bites, and eat fast, or you may chew thoroughly and slowly. If you do the latter, the food, well-mixed with the secretions of the mouth, stomach, and small intestine, becomes semi-liquid. If well masticated, quietly, and without emotional upset, it is ready for the second process.

The second step is involuntary. The semi-liquid filters through the lining of the small intestine into the bloodstream, on its way to the millions of cells in the body. This is followed by absorption, the third involuntary stage. The cells now pick up and use the nourishment, and this is assimilation. There is no nutritive value until food is assimilated.

Six simple rules assure good digestion: 1) chew thoroughly; 2) eat tasty, well prepared food; 3) eat moderately—don't stuff; 4) eat a few varieties of food—not a conglomeration; 5) never work hard after eating; 6) avoid arguments or tension when eating. Follow these rules and consult your doctor of chiropractic for a restoration of the mechanical integrity of the body and you may be assured of normal nerve function and a healthy digestion.

No. 1 and 4 Teams Win Bantam League Bowling At Antioch Recreation

Team No. 1 in the 1 p.m. league and team No. 4 in the 2:30 p.m. league were winners in Grade School bowling at the Antioch Recreation this year. It was the first attempt at grade school bowling which covered a period of 20 weeks.

There were six teams of four members each in the 1 o'clock league, and a like number—six teams—in the 2:30 league. They bowled for 20 weeks.

The Junior leagues were sanctioned under the American Junior Bowling Congress, instructed by Carl Gibson of the local Bowling Lanes. This program was instituted with the help of Mrs. O'Donnell of the A.J.B.C. and maintained with the weekly assistance of Mrs. Carl Gibson and Mrs. William Keulman.

In the 1 p.m. League, Team No. 1, composed of Walt Delaney, Jim Lubeno, Dave Fernandes, and Bob Blalock finished first with 24 wins and 16 losses, receiving individual trophies with the compliments of the Antioch Recreation. The bowlers who topped the league in averages for their first year of bowling are: Jack Thompson, 136, Bill Ozga - 116, and Ed Martin - 115.

In the 2:30 League, the first place team was team No. 4—Arnold Koenig, Bruce Larson, Dennis Kosar, Bob Boller. They bowled off a tie, in 3 very exciting games, with team No. 5 composed of Bill Schneider, Tom Anderson, Pam Meyer, and Terry Manzardo, to win their trophies. In averages Dennis Kosar was first with 110, followed by Gary Toliver and Jim Gibson with 105 and 104.

Altogether about 60 Grade School "Bantams" participated in the bowling program, besides 16 teams of Juniors—High School Bowlers—who will finish their season in May. They are at present signing up for a Teen-agers League for the summer which will bowl on Thursday evenings. Mr. Gibson plans to continue with this Junior bowling program in the fall—building and improving from the start made during the past season.

Social Security Benefits Important

Are you disabled? If so, don't put off contacting your social security office since a delay after July 1, 1957 may cause you to lose benefits, or may greatly reduce your social security benefits when you are eligible. Workers who are totally disabled and their disability is expected to be of continued long duration should file to "freeze" their social security record to protect their benefit. Monthly payments can be made to you if you are between the ages of 50 and 65 and you meet the disability and work requirements of the law. Contact your social security office at Waukegan, Illinois.

All boys must be accompanied by one of their parents. Safety Commissioner Addresses American Legion on Road Safety

P. M. O'Connell, of the Lake County Safety commission told members of the Antioch American Legion last Thursday that future safety on highways will depend on a limiting of speeds to 65 mph in the daytime and 55 mph at night.

O'Connell said that 85 per cent of the drivers limit themselves to that speed and when traffic is moving at about the same rate of speed there are fewer accidents.

The safety experts say that at 55 mph steadily in the daytime the best time is made in general traffic.

The commission, O'Connell said, is directing its efforts toward making all drivers safety conscious without making them nervous and afraid to drive. It has been found, he said, that too many patrolmen slow up traffic beyond that which is necessary, and that one for every 20 to 30 miles is about right.

The commission also is attempting to found a Junior Safety Commission based on high school driver training. This commission of teen agers would study traffic safety and pass on to their successors their conclusions, and perspective of the problem of traffic safety.

"We have concluded that the high school students who take driver training are not the ones who cause the high insurance rates for those under 25 years of age," said O'Connell.

WATER SAFETY COURSE AT WAUKEGAN HIGH SCHOOL

A Water Safety Aid course has been announced to begin on May 7 at the Waukegan Township High School. It will meet from 7-10 p.m. once each week for five weeks and those finishing it will be able to assist in the teaching of the Red Cross swimming program.

Those wishing to qualify for the course must be at least 14 years old and hold a current junior or senior Red Cross Life Saving Certificate.

Robert Montour, director of First Aid and Water Safety for Lake County, will be in charge of the program. He may be reached at Ontario 2-4044 for further information.

Must Register by May 4
Saturday, May 4 will be the last day for registration to vote in the Monday, June 3 judicial election. Supervisor Lloyd E. Murrie has been informed. Registrations and transfers must be sent to the county clerk. This does not affect those already registered.

Antioch Team Improving

Coach Larry Leon notes the gradual improvement of his team as practice proceeds. He says that with most favorable weather conditions, the tight schedule allows but 12 days of practice the rest of the season.

Frosh-Sophs Beat Glenbrook

While the varsity was holding Glenbrook to a 3-3 tie, the Antioch Soph-Frosh team won from Glenbrook underclassmen, 10 to 6.

Bernard Labroke, Antioch pitcher, had the visitors well under control until the seventh when with men on base his brother, Mike came to his relief and struck out the next two batters in putting out the fire.

Jim Portalski cleared the Little League diamond fence for two home runs. "Although there was poor base running at the start, Coach Bill Seaman said that the conduct on the bases improved as the game went along. He praised Gudeon for his good work as catcher.

The team will play Fenton at Bensenville Friday.

The Antioch freshman team will play its first game here with Grayslake Saturday.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear wife, mother and grandmother, Bertha M. Burnette, who passed away three years ago on April 29, 1954.

Just a line of sweet remembrance,
Just a memory, fond and true,
Just a token of love's devotion,
That our hearts still long for you.
Loving Husband, Children and Grandchildren

Thank You

I wish to thank all my friends for the flowers, cards, gifts and for the many acts of kindness during my recent illness.

FORTY THOUSAND FUNERALS

will result from traffic accidents this year... will yours be one of them?

Sudden death will strike over 40,000 men, women and children in traffic accidents in 1956, unless all of us do something about it!

Here's How You Can Help
Stop Traffic Tragedies

1. Drive safely and courteously yourself.
Watch traffic and pedestrians carefully.
Observe speed limits and warning signs.
Where drivers stay alert and obey the law, deaths go DOWN!
2. Insist on strict enforcement of all traffic laws in your community. Traffic regulations work for you, not against you.
Wherever traffic laws are strictly enforced, deaths go DOWN!

Shift Takes Place
In Distribution
Of Public Debt

NEW YORK—A shift of more than ordinary consequence has been taking place in the distribution of the public debt, highlighted by the growth of debt ownership by the Federal Government itself through the Social Security trust funds and other investment accounts it controls.

The latest figures show that individuals as a group still hold top honors in debt ownership, with a total of nearly $67 billions of Government securities as of last June 30. This is due primarily to some $50 billions of Savings Bonds held by the people. A basic element of Federal fiscal policy has been to finance the public debt out of the savings of individuals and other investors to the greatest possible extent to promote economic stability and to help keep inflationary pressures under control.

While the commercial banking system continues to hold the No. 2 debt ownership spot, the Government-controlled investment accounts, whose predominant source of funds is the taxing power, have been coming up rapidly as a contender. As of last June 30, these Government accounts had upped their ownership of the public debt to $53½ billions as against just over $37 billions then held by the commercial banks.

Thus the spread between the two was little more than $3½ billions at that time. By contrast, the commercial banks held some $10 billions more of the public debt than did the Government investment accounts six months earlier, at the end of 1955.

U. S. Population
Is Gaining Fast

NEW YORK—A United States population of 178½ million by the time of 1960 census is envisioned by statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. In that event, the 1950's will show a population increase of about 27½ million, or two-fifths more than the 1940's, which up to that time had the greatest gain for any 10-year period.

In the 1½ years since World War II, almost 29½ million have been added to our population, which is more than the gain during the 23 years between World War I and World War II.

During the year just ended, the population, excluding the Armed Forces overseas, increased by 1.8 per cent. Every geographic area shared in this growth, but the Far West showed the highest rate of increase—almost double the national rate.

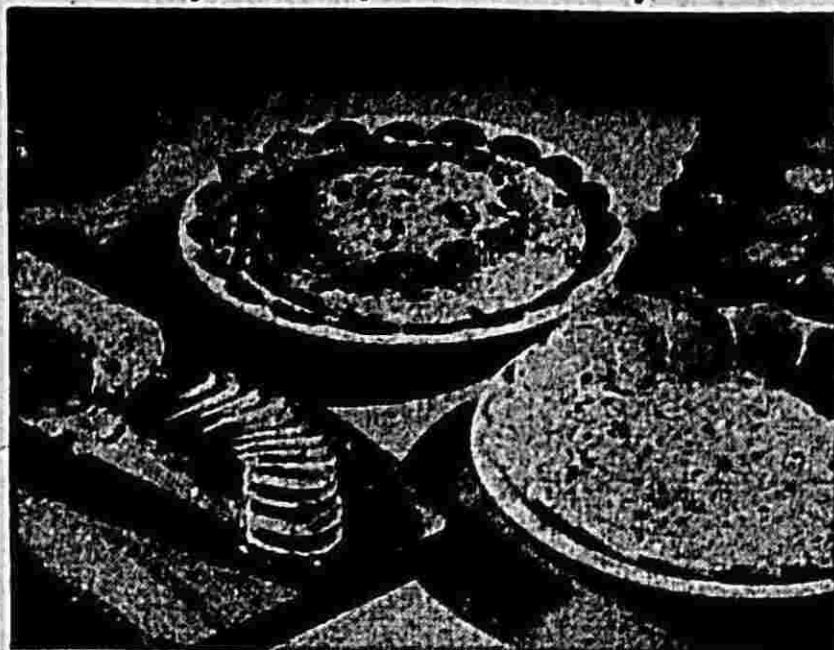

Since the 1950 census, California has gained more than any other state, about 3.1 million inhabitants. California's population now numbers about 13.7 million, exceeded only by New York State.

Europe and Coal

WASHINGTON—Reflecting Western Europe's widening gap between energy supplies and demand, the Organization for European Economic Cooperation asserts that "coal will be the mainstay of the energy economy in Europe for many years."

In an average month last year, volunteers working in the nation's 176 Veterans Administration hospitals numbered over 18,000, from 450 American Red Cross chapters.

Looky, Looky... A Cookie Pie!

Pretty as a picture and fabulously flavored, this glamour pie happens in a hurry with new, ready-rolled Icebox Cookies for its crust. Latest addition to the Pillsbury family of fresh-dough foods, the cookies come in three favorite flavors... Butterscotch Nut, Crunchy Peanut or Coconut... and they keep so well in the refrigerator that you can slice and bake only as many as you need at one time.

To make the cookie pie crust, simply slice the roll of cookies, arrange in an eight-inch pie pan and bake. Your favorite pudding or chiffon recipe makes the filling, and for real convenience with taste appeal, try an ice-cream filling.

One roll makes about four dozen thin, crisp cookies, or one pie shell and a dozen cookies.

Exhibit Shows Everyday Life in Early America

WASHINGTON—"Everyday Life in Early America" is portrayed in a new hall opened by the Smithsonian Institution.

Filling a gallery 180 by 55 feet, the new hall is a novel installation. It provides for the first time in Washington a comprehensive display of the domestic paraphernalia, furnishings, and settings of seaboard America from its initial European settlement to the industrial revolution. Also for the first time in an exhibition of American cultural history in a large museum, it introduces the revolutionary new exhibit techniques which were first applied to exhibits of natural history. In an actual 17th-century house, in four other room interiors, in an early 18th-century schoolroom and in 52 professionally designed case exhibits, specimens are used not only to exploit their own intrinsic qualities, but also to illustrate ideas and tell a narrative history.

Illustrations, diagrams, models, maps, and narrative labels supplement specimens, while colorful backgrounds and dramatic lighting help to vary pace and overcome "museum fatigue." Push-button switches, which the visitor can operate to change room lighting from daylight to candlelight, and an introductory tape-recording triggered by the proximity switch add modern dimensions to this hall of antiques.

Fatal Accidents Higher in 1956

NEW YORK—Fatal accidents in the United States during 1956 took approximately 95,000 lives. It was the second successive year in which the total increased, figures for the recent year being about 2,000 higher than that for 1955 and 5,000 higher than the 1954 total.

The rise is accounted for by the increase in fatalities from motor vehicle accidents, which numbered approximately 40,000 in 1956. This is about 2,000 more than in 1955, and established a new high annual toll.

The number of lives lost in each of the other main classes of accidents showed no appreciable change from the preceding year. Accidents in and about the home were responsible for approximately 28,000 deaths, public accidents other than those involving motor vehicles killed about 18,000 persons, and occupational accidents about 14,000, of which more than 3,000 involved motor vehicles.

Early Artist Painted Record of Old West

WASHINGTON—When the wild west was "wild" 125 years ago, occupied almost exclusively by red men of many Indian tribes, an American artist wandered among these Indians painting portraits of eminent individuals, ceremonies, dances, villages and landscapes.

He was a prolific painter, sometimes producing four or five pictures in a day. On the whole his work was extremely realistic and presented a faithful picture of the early west. This sometimes is quite different from that gleaned from textbooks or romantic histories.

This painter, George Catlin, of Philadelphia, was an ex-lawyer whose mother had been an Iroquois prisoner in the Wyoming Valley (Pa.) massacre. He traveled with companies of army dragoons, with traders and explorers, and quite often alone. Throughout he remained on friendly terms with the various tribes of Indians.

Distance No Matter To True Music-Lover

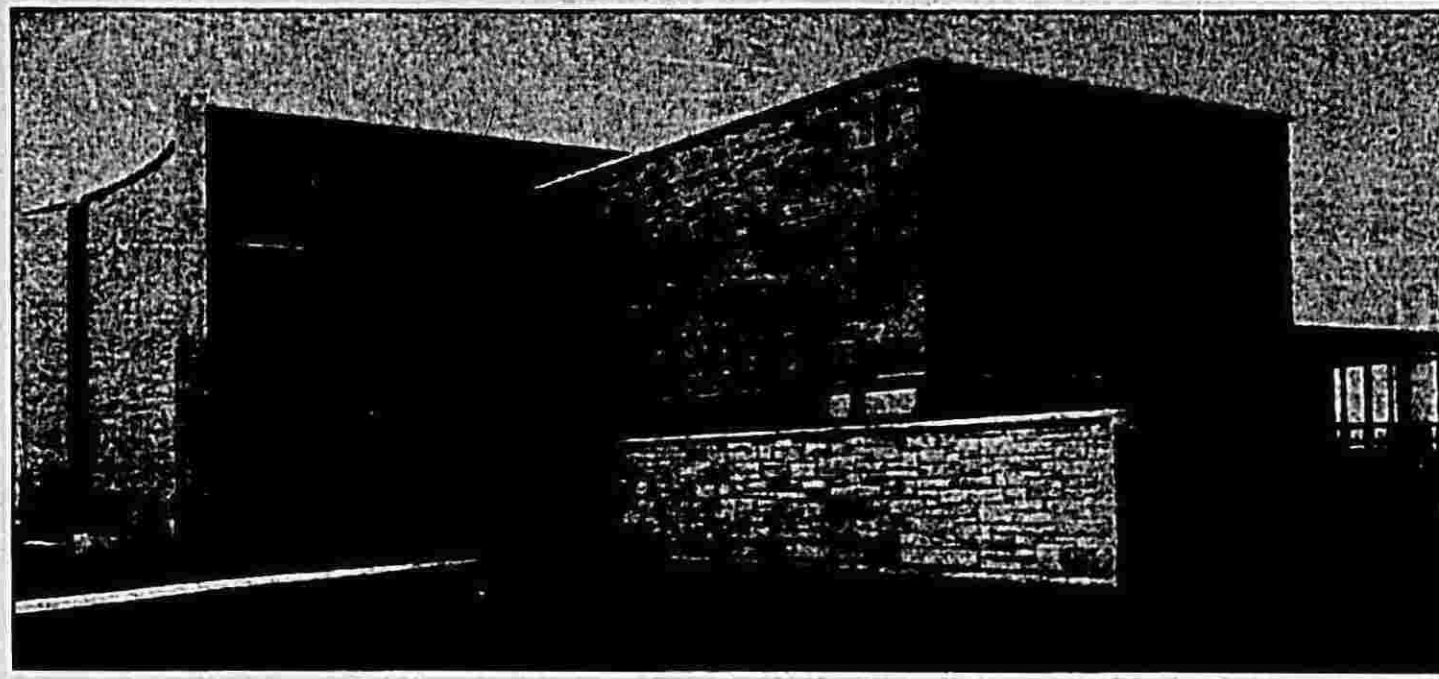

CHICAGO—In rural areas, long distances make little difference to music lovers. Driving hundreds of miles to a concert is not unusual. In a thinly populated section of Northern California, some 60 members of the Humboldt County Little Symphony travel 130 miles weekly to attend rehearsals. Members are housewives, ministers, teachers and retired persons.

Mountain neighbors living in the Asheville, N. C. area drive up to 30 miles to play traditional mountain ballads by ear on banjo, guitar, fiddle and mandolin. In Colorado, a music teacher, Lloyd Bader, travels 80,000 miles a year in a trailer to provide music classes for five towns and three rural areas.

Versatile Product

NEW YORK—In 1948, International Nickel announced a revolutionary new foundry product commonly known as Ductile Cast Iron. Although made in the iron foundry, this new product is unlike ordinary cast iron in that it is not brittle and can be bent or twisted. Today it is widely accepted for numerous engineering applications and is expected within the next few years to become the third ranking industrial engineering ferrous metal on a tonnage basis.

Campus Mothers Day May 3 and 4 at U. of I.; Fine Program Planned

Campus Mother's Day at the University of Illinois will be observed May 3-4 this year, and plans for it are well under way in Champaign, where the idea of such a collegiate observance originated in 1921.

In what is the most important event on the Spring School Calendar, all mothers of students attending the University of Illinois will be guests on the campus for the weekend. Activities to be presented in their honor will include: coronation of the Mothers Day Queen, Shi-Ai and Watereka sings, Honors Day ceremonies, the University Theater production of "Quadrelle," the Spring Musical "Finian's Rainbow," the Water Ballet, and a fashion show.

The Mothers Association coffee hour and meeting will be held in the ballroom of the Illini Union on Saturday morning. Dr. David D. Henry, President of the University of Illinois, will address the mothers at this time. Dr. Henry's address will be followed by greetings from the dean of men and dean of women. Also at this meeting, officers will be elected and special guests introduced, including recipients of the Mothers Association scholarships.

Mothers will be further honored in student homes and will close the weekend at Sunday morning services in campus churches.

Every mother is encouraged to become a contributing member of the association by paying a fee of one dollar. This dollar goes toward the aforementioned scholarship fund and an emergency loan fund for worthy students. Membership fees may be paid during the coffee hour on Saturday morning or may be sent by mail to: Mrs. Howard Wolfe, Mothers Association Treasurer, 154 N. Dennis, Decatur, Ill.

Suez Passage Is More Difficult Than It Appears

WASHINGTON—Passage through the almost straight, 100-mile-long Suez Canal looks easy to landlubbers.

Actually, moving traffic along this strategic waterway between the Mediterranean and Red Seas is a difficult job. How difficult it can be was hinted by the delicate maneuvers used recently to free ships marooned between Port Said and the blocked southern entrance.

Originally southbound, the trapped vessels faced unusual problems in turning around and avoiding obstructions caused by the late hostilities. But, even in normal times, skippers turn grey.

Maj. Gen. Glen E. Edgerton, retired army officer and the only American on the Suez Canal Company's international board of engineering advisors, recently wrote in a National Geographic Magazine article: "From the standpoint of the master accustomed to straight steaming in deep water, the most unnerving thing about a Suez transit is the sudden seeming insanity of his ship. The reason is the peculiar action of the water confined between narrow banks. . . . There are not only the ordinary currents to be reckoned with, but also the vagrant pressures built up by the ship herself.

An unchecked swerve from the current may mean trouble. If the ship is lucky, she will only "smell the bottom," barely touch where the channel begins to slope upward to the bank, but she may hit the bank and stick.

Any delay in transit is reported as an incident. In March 1956, when 1,397 ships went through, there were 114 incidents. Causes included bumping the banks, engine breakdowns and fog.

Brazil Is Building New Inland Capital

WASHINGTON—Brazil is building a new capital—expected to become a center of atomic power and air traffic as well as government.

In an almost uninhabited region of grassland and bush hundreds of miles from the heavily populated seacoast, construction has started on a "Presidential Palace," someday to be surrounded by a thriving city called Brasilia.

The present capital is Rio de Janeiro, a cosmopolitan city on the Atlantic. Travelers declare Rio to be one of the world's most beautiful cities, but it is overcrowded and short of water and electricity. There is no way of enlarging it except to push more of its encircling mountains into the bay.

Moving the government nearer the center of the huge country has been a goal since 1789. Brazil's present Constitution declares that the capital shall be removed to the central plateau.

The site is in the State of Goias, some 600 miles northwest of Rio, and beyond any existing railroad.

Industry Is Growing Faster Out West

NEW YORK—In keeping with the trend of population and the growth of the country at large, industry is continuing to grow faster in the West than in the East, according to data being made public by the U. S. Bureau of the Census of its 1954 Census of Manufactures.

The figures show that manufacturing output west of the Mississippi increased 90 per cent on an overall basis between 1947 and 1954 while the comparable figure for all the States east of the River was only 50 per cent. The National gain for the period was 57 per cent. Despite this trend, however, nearly two-thirds of American manufacturing still lies in the area east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio River.

Mexico's Burro Fades From Rural Scenes

WASHINGTON—Mexico's faithful friend, the burro, is declining in numbers as machines take over more and more farm work.

The drowsy-eyed little beasts now total only about 2,500,000 compared with the many millions that once worked the Mexican land and carried the nation's burdens.

Until recent times, the patient burro symbolized the old Mexico as picturesquely as cactus, the guitar or sombrero. Few visitors traveled anywhere without seeing them.

Descendants of the small gray donkey of North Africa, burros came to the New World with the Spanish conquistadores.

History Note

LANSING, Mich.—In 1847, legislators wrangled for months in Detroit to choose Michigan's permanent capital. A prankster suggested "the township of Lansing," then a wilderness with a sawmill and one log house. To break the legislative deadlock, the tired lawmakers agreed.

Washington Is True Diplomatic Center

WASHINGTON—Nearly every independent country in the world now maintains an embassy in Washington—the nation's Capital now hosting 75 foreign embassies, an increase of 40 since World War II.

Among the 81 diplomatic missions located in Washington, only six are lesser ranking legations headed by ministers or charges d'affaires.

Newest envoys are those of newly independent nations such as Morocco, Sudan and Tunisia, who sent envoys of top rank.

The six with lesser legations are Switzerland, Yemen, Hungary, Romania, Latvia and Lithuania. Switzerland traditionally has no embassies anywhere, although under 1956 legislation it is probable that legations in Washington and other leading capitals will be raised to embassy status.

Tidal Flats Valuable To Most Marine Life

WASHINGTON—Tidal mud flats, often reclaimed for building purposes or used as dumping sites, are among America's most valuable marine nursery grounds.

Such prolific mud flats lie in quiet estuaries and bays around the world where nutrient-rich rivers and streams blend with the sea.

Multi-million-dollar fisheries are dependent upon the survival of tidal inlets. Commercial oysters and food clams cannot live elsewhere. Menhaden, shrimp, striped bass, salmon, shad mullet, and the important Oriental food item, milk fish, all must go into brackish waters to carry out their life cycles.

What a Buick!
What a Buy!
What a Dream to Drive!

THE more you look at a new Buick, the more you realize what a spectacular car it is.

It has a suave new body, ingenious new frame, 150 new features in its chassis alone. It's so low, you feel inches taller. And there's headroom, legroom, foot-room galore.

But what you can't see—what you simply have to feel for yourself—is what happens when you take this beauty to the road. Any road.

We came up with a new kind of steering, new "nested" torque-tube ride, new braking that's smoother, surer, more powerful.

We poured our engineering skills into a completely new V8 engine with the "power-pack" built right in, at no extra cost—a fire-breather, for fair.

And we capped the climax by building a new Variable Pitch Dynaflo* that can't be beat for snap, sparkle, smoothness.

Granted, you've heard about dream cars, and maybe seen a few at Auto Shows. But here's the first honest-to-greatness dream car to drive!

You can afford a Buick if you can afford any new car. So drop in on your Buick dealer today.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Tornado Season Approaches Many Parts of America

NEW YORK — Tornadoes, the most violent and spectacular storms produced by nature, are a menace to the life and property of almost everyone living between the Rockies and the Atlantic. They occur in the eastern Gulf states at the beginning of the year, then advance north-westward to reach Iowa and Kansas in June, remaining in that area until late September.

Knowing what to do when a tornado is observed may mean the difference between life and death, even though there is no universal protection against them except in caves or underground excavations, such as the so-called "cyclone cellar." Here are a few suggestions:

If you are in open country: 1. Move at right angles to the tornado's path. Tornadoes usually move ahead at about 25 to 40 miles per hour. 2. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression such as a ditch or a ravine.

If in a city or town: 1. Seek inside shelter, preferably in a strongly reinforced building. Stay away from windows. In homes: Usually the safest part of the house is in the corner of the basement toward that from which the storm is coming. However, when you are unable to determine from which direction the tornado is coming, go to the southwest corner of the basement, which usually offers the greatest safety, especially in frame houses. People in houses without basements should find other shelter, preferably in a storm cellar, although a ditch or ravine can offer some protection.

Powerful Gasolines Now Being Tested

SAN FRANCISCO—Fuels of the future—gasolines with octane ratings well above the 100 level—are now being tested on Bay Area streets in a fleet of experimental cars powered by revolutionary high-compression engines of 12:1 ratio.

These complex and costly gasolines, which are being perfected to power the cars and trucks of tomorrow, are undergoing thousands of miles of downtown driving tests to check wear and tear on engines under the most severe operating conditions.

New motor oils, designed to furnish future engines with outstanding lubrication plus the greatest possible protection from harmful deposits, are also being tested in experiments that will consume some 50,000 gallons of specially-prepared 100-plus octane gasoline. At the same time, laboratory specialists are in the process of logging hundreds of hours of indoor tests simulating high speeds and heavy loads under all kinds of weather conditions.

Preparation Important To College Education

ANN ARBOR, MICH.—If you want your children to go to college, you should start working them toward this objective by the time they're in the eighth grade, according to Clyde Vroman, director of admissions at The University of Michigan.

Vroman predicts three trends will emerge from the increasing demand for higher education:

1. Students will become more serious and more competitive for success.
2. There will be an upgrading in the achievement of standards of the student body, and
3. Higher education programs will gradually become more difficult for students unless they possess "good ability and seriousness of purpose in abundant quantities."

Record Traffic Toll Shown in '56 Claims

Motor vehicle fatalities in 1956 resulted in a record 45,000 life insurance death claims, representing aggregate death benefits of $97,000,000, the Institute of Life Insurance says.

This was 3,000 more claims and $7,000,000 more in benefits than was paid in 1955.

"These figures reflect the growing carnage on the highways," the Institute said. "The world would be horrified if it were to be reported that every man, woman and child in Council Bluffs, Iowa, died in a catastrophe—and the year's traffic toll is the equivalent. In the years since World War II, the number of traffic deaths has run up to an aggregate greater than the number of battle deaths among U.S. armed forces during the entire war."

Chosen Career

CHICAGO—Medicine as a profession still has a strong appeal among young people.

A recent report by the American Medical Association shows that 7,686 students, a record number, entered medical schools in the 1955-56 academic year.

Gibberellic Acids

Produced by Abbott's
Now on Market

Faster growing plants—up to three times more rapid than normal—can be raised with the help of gibberellic acids which are being made available for the first time this month in commercial quantities by Abbott Laboratories, North Chicago, Ill.

The gibberellic acids not only stimulate plant growth, they also cause earlier flowering, faster germination, more rapid seed maturation, and release from dormancy. Among the plants which have responded to treatment with the acids are African violets, dahlias, chrysanthemums, geraniums, ivy, hydrangea, petunias, roses, and many other plants, ornamentals, and trees.

Although some research has been done on the use of gibberellic acids on food plants, further investigations of residues are necessary before the acids can be recommended for food, feed, and fiber crops, Abbott's Chemical Sales Division said.

Gibberellic acids promote growth and other responses by causing the plant cells to stretch and by speeding up cell division. Many responses can be obtained with the application of dilute solutions of only a few parts of gibberellic acids to a million. These solutions can be sprayed on the plant or applied as a droplet to the growing tip.

A single dose early in the plant's growth is sufficient for many responses, although repeated applications may be necessary for others. Overdosing may cause undesirable responses in some plants, such as "topping out" or death of the growing tips.

To date, the acids have been available only in small quantities for research purposes. Abbott's Chemical Sales Division will supply the acids in crystalline form ready for commercial formulation or other problems so that products incorporating the gibberellic acids can be marketed with minimum delay.

The gibberellic acids are derived from gibberella fujikuroi, a fungus which causes the "foolish seedling" disease in rice grown in the Orient. The acids are responsible for the rapid growth of the plants, but not for the subsequent dying out which characterizes the disease.

Unlikely as it seems, more coal moved on Chesapeake Bay in 1955 than on the Kanawha River in the heart of West Virginia's coal fields. Chesapeake Bay barges carried more than 7,900,000 tons; on the Kanawha River 5,800,000 tons were moved.

Now there's an emergency spare tire for cars that can be rolled into a package the size of a football, inflated with a carbon dioxide cartridge.

Largest deep mine on the Ohio River from Pittsburgh to Cairo, Ill., is Powhatan No. 3 Mine of the North American Coal Corp. The mine also is the largest deep mine in the state of Ohio with a production of approximately 1,500,000 tons a year.

HEALTH TALK

Diet and Disposition

Important in Colitis
The colon or large intestine is important in the digestive process. When its normal function of assisting in the elimination of waste materials from the body is impaired, distressing symptoms develop, such as rectal bleeding or alternating constipation and diarrhea. The condition attacking the colon may appear in either of two forms, mucous or ulcerative colitis. Both types are disturbing, but the latter is more serious, the Educational Committee of the Illinois State Medical Society observes in Health Talk.

Just why colitis develops is not clearly defined, but emotional factors are involved. The way some persons react to tensions and frustrations of everyday living is a clue. That is why diet and disposition are important when either mucous or ulcerative colitis develops.

Actually the colon is a long tube, which may be divided into three parts: the ascending colon which begins in the lower right side of the abdomen; then the transverse section which extends across the abdomen, and the descending segment extending down the left side and on to the rectum.

In the digestive process, the food enters the ascending colon. With the action called peristalsis, the colon contracts and expands; this process sends the material along its way through what is known as the alimentary tract. Normally wastes are eliminated without difficulty, but when there is interference, colitis may develop.

Feelings of anger or resentment tend to tighten up the emotional structure. Feelings of sadness or deep depression play a similar role. In some persons the feelings are so strong that colitis occurs and the end result is an interference in normal bowel evacuation.

In mucous colitis, the characteristic symptoms are alternating constipation and diarrhea that comes and goes over a long period of time. Usually, there is no damage to the tissues. Once the victim has been restored to a state of equanimity, the condition disappears.

Ulcerative colitis, however, is a serious complication. The diarrhea is accompanied by pain; it is severe and prolonged. The loss of blood from the bowel is an added menace.

X-ray films are usually taken to confirm the diagnosis. The patient is given some substance, such as barium, and the physician studies the x-ray films of the bowel in action. The x-ray films also reveal the ulcers present along the lining of the colon.

Pain is frequently associated with ulcerative colitis. It is spasmodic in type, causing the patient to double up with its gnawing sensation.

Diet is important in the control of the condition. Usually it is bland in nature, since every effort is made to lessen irritation. Good mental hygiene is equally important. A calm, mental acceptance of everyday tensions will help. And hurry, worry and excesses of any kind should be avoided.

View with suspicion any prolonged irregularity in bowel habits. Then consult your physician to obviate the severe and often embarrassing discomforts of colitis.

Detroit—Why do you buy the things you do? That's a question psychologists are exploring today, seeking the reasons behind our buying habits.

A few years back, they point out, the average American preferred a solid black car two-to-one over all other colors.

But today's free-and-easy times have brought changes, and one of them, reported recently by one of the nation's leading auto manufacturers, is the emergence of white as the most popular single-tone car on the road.

According to figures released by Dodge, white now holds the lead over black.

Psychologists account for the change by saying that the average American wants his personal possessions to reflect his personality, pointing to the overwhelming demand for deluxe two-tone combinations.

At present, metallic gold and white lead all other color schemes at Dodge, with 12 per cent of total output, while 10 per cent of Dodge buyers prefer a white and flame-red design.

And those are but a few of the 14 solid colors and 51 two-tone combinations this one manufacturer has offered to satisfy John Q. Public's demands.

Gibberellic Acids

Produced by Abbott's
Now on Market

Faster growing plants—up to three times more rapid than normal—can be raised with the help of gibberellic acids which are being made available for the first time this month in commercial quantities by Abbott Laboratories, North Chicago, Ill.

The gibberellic acids not only stimulate plant growth, they also cause earlier flowering, faster germination, more rapid seed maturation, and release from dormancy. Among the plants which have responded to treatment with the acids are African violets, dahlias, chrysanthemums, geraniums, ivy, hydrangea, petunias, roses, and many other plants, ornamentals, and trees.

Although some research has been done on the use of gibberellic acids on food plants, further investigations of residues are necessary before the acids can be recommended for food, feed, and fiber crops, Abbott's Chemical Sales Division said.

Gibberellic acids promote growth and other responses by causing the plant cells to stretch and by speeding up cell division. Many responses can be obtained with the application of dilute solutions of only a few parts of gibberellic acids to a million. These solutions can be sprayed on the plant or applied as a droplet to the growing tip.

A single dose early in the plant's growth is sufficient for many responses, although repeated applications may be necessary for others. Overdosing may cause undesirable responses in some plants, such as "topping out" or death of the growing tips.

To date, the acids have been available only in small quantities for research purposes. Abbott's Chemical Sales Division will supply the acids in crystalline form ready for commercial formulation or other problems so that products incorporating the gibberellic acids can be marketed with minimum delay.

The gibberellic acids are derived from gibberella fujikuroi, a fungus which causes the "foolish seedling" disease in rice grown in the Orient. The acids are responsible for the rapid growth of the plants, but not for the subsequent dying out which characterizes the disease.

Unlikely as it seems, more coal moved on Chesapeake Bay in 1955 than on the Kanawha River in the heart of West Virginia's coal fields. Chesapeake Bay barges carried more than 7,900,000 tons; on the Kanawha River 5,800,000 tons were moved.

Early California Conflict Halted Legislative Work

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. — An historian seeking the solution to a political "who-dunnit" has stumbled upon a little known California conflict which once reached the proportions of a Greek tragedy.

The "who-dunnit" element appeared when political research of Dr. Robert L. Kelley revealed a startling reversal of political form in 1879. Party control suddenly switched and, even more odd, it seemed that the legislature sat dormant throughout one session—scarcely a bill was passed.

Research divulged the reason. By 1870 hydraulic mines in the Sierra Nevada had become multi-million dollar giants, spewing forth a steady stream of wealth for investors. Their roaring jets of water fed by hundreds of miles of ditches and flumes had also filled the Sacramento river and tributaries with silt and debris, burying 40,000 acres of the once rich valley floor and leaving terror and devastation in the wake of floods. A bitter conflict arose between farmers and mining interests, symbolizing the historic clash between agrarian and explorative industries in California—and the nation.

The struggle was a major problem for 20 years, involving at times the entire state. It swayed back and forth between courts and legislature, splitting both parties and paralyzing the legislature of 1881.

An injunction was finally granted to prevent the miners from using the rivers as dumps.

South American Minerals Important

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. — Mineral raw materials from Latin American countries might well provide the margin between victory and defeat in the event of war, says Dr. John D. Ridge, professor of mineral economics at the Pennsylvania State University.

Dr. Ridge therefore believes that the United States must be careful not to do anything to bolster our own mining economy which would have harmful repercussions in Latin America and that Latin America must be defended from Soviet aggression.

Says Dr. Ridge: "Raising tariffs on mineral raw materials imported by the United States from our southern neighbors would reduce markedly the tonnages they could sell in this country and would force them either to seek other markets or to curtail production. In either event, when we later need to resume large imports from our southern neighbors, the United States might find those countries unable or unwilling to meet our requests."

Nation's Marriage Rate Continues Upward

NEW YORK—Marriages in the United States increased last year, reaching an estimated total of 1,587,000, or a rate of 9.4 marriages per 1,000 population. This figure, which includes the Armed Forces overseas, compares with the postwar low of 9.2 per 1,000 in 1954.

Most states recorded small increases in marriages, but in two—Indiana and Oklahoma—there was a pronounced upswing, almost 17 per cent in Indiana and about 11 per cent in Oklahoma.

Eleven states reported a decrease, in most cases relatively small—under five per cent in Nebraska and Georgia and two per cent or less in the other nine states.

In cities with at least 100,000 population, the trend was similar to that for the states—there were increases in 74 cities and declines in 29.

Nylon Artery Makes Medical History

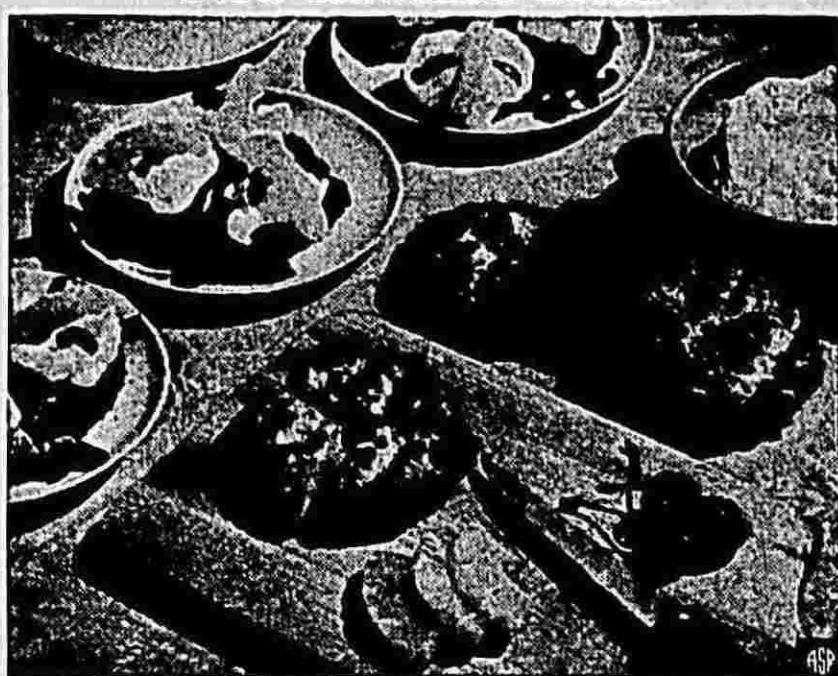

DECATUR, Ala.—Already carrying the life blood of a growing number of men and women, a new man-made Y-shaped artery is making medical history. The new artery, made of nylon, replaces the vital human aorta where it branches to carry blood to the legs.

Today, less than eight months after the first medical meeting report on the nylon "aortic bifurcation graft," more than 200 people in the U. S. and foreign countries are walking testimonials to the success of this new replacement artery.

Welfare Costs Up
NEW YORK—The cost of government-sponsored social welfare under civilian public programs in the United States has risen fivefold in the last decade.

Compilations made by the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare show that expenditures for these programs from the public purse—Federal, State and local combined—rose from $4½ billions in 1945 to some $21½ billions in 1955.

New Hawaiian Treats

Here's a quick simple way of bringing the color and flavor of another land to your dinner table. Sliced pineapple and pearly maraschino cherries in whipped cream add a bright note of flavor to a cookie-like coconut round base in making these new Hawaiian Treats.

Use either plain or chocolate-covered coconut rounds from your grocer's ready-to-eat cake department. Plan on one for each serving. Divide each into three parts. Top with whipped cream and fruits, and provide a touch of party greenery with a mint leaf.

Hawaiian Treats

4 plain or chocolate covered coconut rounds
½ cup whipping cream
1 tablespoon powdered sugar

4 slices pineapple, drained and cut into thirds
8 maraschino cherries, cut into sixths
Mint leaves
½ teaspoon vanilla

Cut coconut rounds into 3 pie-shaped wedges. Combine cream, vanilla, sugar, and milk. Whip until stiff. Top each wedge with a generous spoonful of whipped cream. Stand a piece of pineapple upright, curved side up, in whipped cream. Decorate wedges with cherry slices. Arrange 3 wedges, slightly separated, on dessert plates. Garnish with mint leaves. Serves 4.

Official Asks for— Gets Speedy Service

NEW YORK — One of New York's outstanding optical firms recently had an urgent call from the State Department in Washington. A prominent member of the Department had had his bifocals swept into the Caribbean Sea by a wave while he was struggling with a big fish. The request was that a new pair of glasses be made and shipped by an afternoon plane that same day.

It was 11:30 a.m. when the call came. The manager of the optical firm, who had served this official for 25 years, knew his prescription was a complicated one. Nevertheless, he immediately asked a master technician to drop everything else and grind lenses. The grinding was done with unusual speed, the manager himself set the lens in a suitable frame and made meticulous adjustments. An airlines pilot grabbed them and raced to the airport.

The State Department official was wearing his new glasses down in the Bahamas by the time the sun set. His name was John Foster Dulles.

In a recent year, 1,152,500 swimming certificates were issued by American Red Cross.
